Portable Fiberglass Pitching Mounds

The Truth About Turf and Metal Cleats

While we hope that metal cleats can one day be used on our mounds, a turf designed for metal cleats, suitable for sustained use in a high traffic area has yet to be invented. We checked. We called turf manufacturers, turf councils and turf testing companies. Hundreds of years of combined experience have repeatedly told us that there is not a metal cleat friendly turf available. Each response came with a recommendation: "Use rubber cleats, turf shoes or even tennis shoes. Metal cleats will cut the fibers that hold the turf together". The surface area of a metal cleat is much smaller than plastic or rubber. In addition, steel is a much harder material than the turf. The result is metal cleats that cut through the bottom fibers of the turf. All mound manufacturers have the same warranty for their turf, NONE. They all refer to the turf manufacturer's warranty. Why is that? Since the turf manufacturers do not recommend using metal cleats, no warranty conditions exist.

FACTS:

All artificial turf will be damaged by metal cleats.
 All turf manufacturers recommend plastic or rubber cleats.
 Mound life with metal cleats; 1 season
 Mound life with plastic cleats; 6-8 seasons or more

All Pitch Pro Portable Pitching Mounds have red clay, brown, or tan color options 60 oz. knitted nylon turf (the strongest synthetic turf available) and weather UV resistant, gel coated fiberglass frames. For outdoor or indoor use.

Pitch Pro only recommends plastic or rubber cleats for all mounds.

Portable Fiberglass Pitching Mounds

Pitch Pro Model 796 Portable Pitching Mound

#101306
$3,695

The 796 is a fuller version of the 486. It's longer and wider than the 486 with a wider slope on sides and back. Great for age's 14 years old and down, this mound is very capable of holding the games' bigger youth pitcher. Bigger kids, more pronounced pick-off moves, a real game mound feel are the main reason behind the 796. Our mound support structure proves to be essential when dealing with mounds of this size. Pitch Pro has made the mound(s) where pitchers can concentrate on pitching and not worry about poor footing, landing area or feel. As the 465 and 486 are very popular with tournament directors, the 796 has become a popular choice for Rec Department and Complex Managers that provide mounds for games.

So you want your pitcher to take a full stride? Don't like your pitcher landing in a hole on the dirt? The 796 is your mound.
